Dear Sirs:

Having recently bought a collection of some five thousand coins, I am desirous of obtaining some comprehensive book on coins, and am taking the liberty of asking if you could recommend any reliable work on the subject. I am quite a novice of limited knowledge, and will, therefore, appreciate any assistance you might give me.

Trusting that I am not imposing on your valuable time, I remain.

Yours very truly,

A. E. COOPER

Dear Sir:

I am glad to respond to your letter of February 2nd. You do not state the nature of the collection which you have purchased, but I presume that it contains United States and Canadian coins. Have you Breton's book on Canadian coins? As a beginning perhaps, the Scott coin books would be of most help to you, but if you will write me more in detail as to what your collection comprises, I can then suggest further titles.

Very truly yours,

Secretary.

ATTENTION--Mr. Sidney P. Noe

Dear Sir:

Responding to your very courteous letter of February 6th.

I am taking the liberty of enclosing herewith a list of the coins of which I wrote you on the 2nd instant. I do not wish to impose too much on your good nature, but if you can find time to glance over the list, you might be able to advise me if the collection is worthwhile, and if so, what coin book would be the most helpful to me.

I remain.

Very truly yours,

Mr. A.E. Cooper
London, Canada

Dear Sir:

Responding to your letter of February 11th, in the light of the list which you have sent us, I would suggest your getting in touch with some of the numismatists in your own city. I would suggest in this connection, the name of Mr. Byron Carney, 34 Hope Street, London, who is a member of the American Numismatic Association. I suspect that he will advise you very much as I have done previously, but if there is any way in which I can be of further help, please feel I shall be glad to have you call upon me. Your list is being returned.

Sincerely yours,

Secretary.
